I talked to Harold Weisberg on the telephone and he has agreed to the two-hundred dollar fee for using the Ford material from his book. He also wants his address--Rt. eight, Frederick, Md. and the price of the book, six dollars and twenty-five cents--included in our story in case any of our readers want to buy his book. He sells it directly from his home. This will be helpful to both of us since the star will not have to get involved in forwarding mail orders and requests for information on the book.

Mr. Weisberg has agreed to sign a statement but I told him I didn't think it was necessary. Pleas advise. Roger
